This book publishes the proceedings of the UGC sponsored National Seminar on 'Challenges and Opportunities in Education' organized by the Department of B.Ed., Loreto College, Kolkata during the centenary celebrations of the Department. Education is a catalyst to make changes possible. The skills, concepts, processes required in the New Millennium demand a rethinking of education. The book features deliberations of the seminar intended to understand the challenges in the fields of primary, secondary and higher education in terms of universalisation, vocationalisation and pursuit of excellence respectively and analyses the inherent opportunities globally. The role of teachers and reorientation of Teacher Education have also been examined in view of national and global challenges. Further, contributions of the great Indian educators have been explored to gain improved insights to rebuild educational systems worldwide.
